Certified Vehicle Fire Investigator Certification Program Guidelines

Objectives

The objectives of the National Certification Board's Certified Vehicle Fire Investigator (CVFI) certification program are consistent with its intent. Those objectives include the following:

- To promote excellence in the investigation of motor vehicle fires.
- To provide a formal, recognized, and standardized evaluation system for identifying and recognizing those individuals who have the minimum professional training, education, and experience to properly investigate vehicle fires or participate in the civil or criminal litigations which may ensue from such investigations.
- To recognize qualified vehicle fire investigators.
- To serve as an international registry and clearinghouse for qualified vehicle fire investigators.

Certified Vehicle Fire Investigator (CVFI) Certification Program Administration

The Certified Vehicle Fire Investigator (CVFI) certification program is administered by the National Association of Fire Investigators' (NAFI) National Certification Board. The National Certification Board is a standing committee and its members are appointed by the NAFI Board of Governors.

Confidentiality of National Certification Board Records

The National Certification Board operates under the authority of the National Association of Fire Investigators (NAFI). The National Association of Fire Investigators is a not-for-profit professional organization and is registered with the Illinois Secretary of State. The Association is not affiliated with or part of any federal, state or local governmental agency or entity.

As such, the records of the National Certification Board are not subject to the requirements of any federal, state or local Freedom of Information laws, administrative policies or ordinances.

All records of the National Certification Board, therefore, remain strictly confidential between the applicant and the Board with only (2) limited exceptions. The National Certification Board will respond to a written request regarding an applicant's certification status.

In addition, the National Certification Board will appropriately respond to any and all legally binding subpoenas and/or court orders. Notification of such responses will be made to the applicant who is the subject of the subpoena and/or court order.

Overview of the Certified Vehicle Fire Investigator (CVFI) Certification Program

The focus of the National Certification Board is to provide a formal and standardized evaluation system for identifying and recognizing those individuals who have the minimum professional training, education and experience to investigate fire and explosion incidents in motor vehicles and/or participate in the civil and criminal litigation which ensues from such investigations and analyses.

CVFI

CVFI Certification through the National Certification Board is achieved via a three-part process.

Part 1 – Completion of the Board’s required Certified Vehicle Fire Investigator (CVFI) training program. Sponsored by NAFI or at select Public Agency Training Council (PATC) courses (please check with the PATC to see if their class qualifies). Enrollment in a NAFI sponsored or PATC training program does not guarantee that an applicant’s application will be approved.

Part 2 – Application Review and approval by the National Certification Board
Application approval is dependent on meeting the Minimum Certification Requirements. No applicants will be allowed to take the CVFI exam without an approved application.

Part 3 – CVFI Examination
Applicants with approved applications will be allowed to take the CVFI exam. Upon successful completion of the exam, CVFI certification will be issued.

There is no other process to achieve the CVFI certification.

While certification by the National Certification Board does not, in and of itself, qualify an applicant as an expert witness for purposes of civil and criminal litigation, applicants have historically utilized Certifications as a significant foundation for attaining such recognition and designation in the courtroom.

Application/Tuition Fee

There is a $75 application fee for the National Certification Board’s Certified Vehicle Fire Investigator (CVFI) certification program if taken at a NAFI sponsored program or a $125 application fee if taken at a PATC training program.

Application Fees are in addition to any training program tuition fees.

The National Certification Board reserves the right to verify all information contained in an applicant's submitted application package. The Board further reserves the right to solicit and/or require additional information from an applicant when necessary to facilitate its review of an applicant's qualifications.

Certified Vehicle Fire Investigator (CVFI) Written Certification Evaluation

Each applicant is allowed a maximum of two (2) hours in which to complete the written certification evaluation. The applicant while completing the written certification evaluation may solicit no reference materials or outside assistance.

A minimum score of seventy-five percent (75%) must be attained to receive a passing score on the written certification evaluation. The National Certification Board, however, records an applicant's performance on the written certification evaluation, only as pass/fail. The completed and scored written certification evaluations are not retained as part of the National Certification Board's records.

CVFI

Applicants who fail to attain a passing score on the written certification evaluation are not eligible to participate in a re-evaluation prior to six (6) months following the date of the original written certification evaluation.
